Hereunder tackles proposed modifications to the ID layout, and their corresponding rationale.

- Enlarged school building picture, made it fade out to the background, and lightened its yellow color overlay. This is to give more space to the important fields below, and as it is subjectively more pleasing to the eyes.
- Added School's physical address, electronic mail address, and contact number in the header of the ID's face. This is due to the requirement set and agreed upon in the signed service contract.
- Changed "Junior High School" or "Senior High School" department subtitle's font to a thick one, its color to dark green, and placed an opaque, white rectangle in its back. This is as the said subtitle is small, and has poor contrast relative to the background.
- The above modifications allowed for the student's picture to be enlarged. This is done to balance the layout of the identification card.
- We also see it fit to move the LRN just below the student's picture, as we do not deem the LRN to be important enough that it is larger and more emphasized than the student's name.
- All of the mentioned modifications above allowed for the QR code to be enlarged. This is done to address reliability issues and machine-readability of the said QR code when it is smaller than 1" x 1". Enlargement of the student's picture is also done to balance the layout of the identification card.
- The font used for the student's name is changed to a thin one, as it can allow for more characters per line without compromising said text's overall size and readability.
- The student's signature field is moved beside the QR code and enlarged. This is done as the identification card can be used for authentication and as a requirement for legal papers, and thus, requires a bigger field.
- Lastly, added watermark of the school's name to the back of the identification card.
